MADGE THELMA LEE IS FATALLY INJURED BY PASSENGER TRAIN

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Miss Madge Thelma Lee, 16 year old daughter of Tobe Lee, a well known resident of Flint. Miss Lee died yesterday afternoon on Louisville and Nashville passenger train Number 2, as a result of injuries received when she was struck by the train, while apparently crossing the track to get from in front of a southbound freight train, near Flint, Wednesday.

Immediately following the accident, the girl was picked up and hurried to the Albany station, where medical assistance was waiting, but died before the station was reached.

It is not known exactly how the accident occurred, Tom Lee, grandfather of the girl, told the Daily today. It is supposed she was going from the postoffice and due to the presence of the two trains, probably became excited. The deceased is survived by her father, 3 brothers, Carrie Lee of Sheffield, Cornell and Horace Lee of Flint; two sisters, Carrie Hale and Osie Lee of Flint. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lee reside in Albany.

J. W. Cobb, of Albany, engineer on the passenger train, stated today the girl appeared to be attempting to get out of the way of a southbound freight when she stepped in front of the northbound passenger train.

DOUBLE CHRISTMAS FOR THE FAR EAST

RED CROSS PLAYS SANTA SECOND TIME TO THE ORIENTALS.

Sufferers in the Far East get two Christmases this year.

At least, that most symbolic part of Christmas—the presents received—will come to these unfortunates twice.

After sending off one large box of practical presents, the Gulf Division of the American Red Cross has just duplicated its efforts and another box, equally large, has just been started overseas by headquarters.

The box, containing women's skirts, underwear, knitted shawls and children's sweaters, is the work of 224 chapters of the Red Cross in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. It consists of 10,378 garments, all made in the month of December.

Barbers Announce Advance in Prices

STATE CAN'T SELL GOVERNMENT VESSELS TRANSPORTING LIQUOR

Rules Attorney General Smith in the Mobile Seizure Case

MOBILE, Jan. 15.—Attorney General J. Q. Smith, of Alabama, has given an opinion that the state cannot seize vessels owned by the U. S. shipping board, when caught with liquors on board. The ruling was made in the case of the U. S. shipping board steamer Lake Linden that was seized by Sheriff W. H. Holcomb, Jr.

PAYS $3,000 FOR 9 KEYS OF MISSOURI RIVER WATER

(International News Service.) ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 15.—Al T. Hussar, a local saloonkeeper, paid $3,000 here the other day for nine keys of Missouri River water. According to Hussar's story to the police, he bought the liquid from a stranger, but not until he had tested it and found it worth the money.

However, Hussar "sampled" the "wet" goods through a rubber tube, one end of which was supposed to extend into each of the keys in turn, and the "sampling" occurred in a dark, secret cellar. Hussar now holds the belief that the tube led to a flask in the stranger's pocket.

No trace of the river water salesman has been found by the police.

COUNT OF FOLKS OFFICIALLY ENDS THURSDAY NIGHT

The count of folks by the United States government census enumerators in the cities officially comes to an end tonight. Enumerators, however, will still be retained for a few days in the "moppingup" campaign, it is said and should any citizen believe he has not been counted, he has been requested to notify the enumerator and the case will be investigated.

Enumerators in Albany-Decatur practically have completed their work. Several of the census takers today were completing their reports, which will be forwarded to Walter F. Miller, census supervisor for the Eighth district.

CITIZENS MAY GET ANOTHER CHANCE TO REGISTER SOON

Citizens of Morgan county may get another chance to register soon, in the opinion of Commissioner W. B. McCulloch. A petition to reopen the registration books now is pending before the commissioners court, and it was stated here today that there is a strong possibility of the court granting the request.

"We must give our citizens an opportunity to register," said Mr. McCulloch. "I have been informed that in one department of the shops alone there are 75 men, who have not yet registered. All over the county there seems to be large numbers who have not had their name placed on the registration lists. We must remedy that situation."

FEDERAL BUILDING NEARS COMPLETION

SPARTICISTS ATTEMPT TO CALL A GENERAL STRIKE IN GERMANY

Are Enraged at Killing of 67 of Their Number in Attack on Reichstag Building

(International News Service.) BERLIN, Jan. 14. (Delayed)—Spartacist leaders adopted a resolution today to call a general strike in Germany in retaliation for the declaration of martial law and the appointment of Minister of Defense Noske as dictator.

The Red Cross today placed the number of deaths in the battle around the Reichstag building at 67. Many more were wounded.

Although Noske has taken drastic precautions to avert further disorders by massing troops throughout the city, fears are expressed that a general strike, if successful, may lead to revolution. The Spartacist and independent socialists are enraged over the killing of so many of their numbers and the efforts to storm the Reichstag building, and more disturbances are looked for.

The soldiers are strongly supported by machine guns and light artillery in anticipation of disorders tomorrow, the anniversary of the killing of Rosa Luxemburg and Carl Liebknecht.

WILSON IN TOUCH WITH PACT MOVES

THINGS "LOOK VERY HOPEFUL" IT WAS ANNOUNCED AT WHITE HOUSE.

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Hope for early ratification of the peace treaty was revived by a conference held this afternoon between republican and democratic leaders in the office of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Republican leader.

William J. Bryan created a stir by appearing in the senate lobbies this afternoon. He had a protracted conference with Senator McKellar, democrat of Tennessee.

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President Wilson in keeping in close touch with the treaty situation in the senate and things "look very hopeful," it was announced at the white house today.

Senator Hitchcock is making constant reports to the white house and his latest report indicate that a satisfactory promise is being approached, it was stated. It is expected that things will move faster after today's election of a minority leader, it was said.

C. J. HARDIMAN SERIOUSLY HURT

C. J. Hardiman, of 723 Fifth Avenue, West, who was painfully and seriously injured at the L. & N. shops Wednesday morning, was reported as resting well today and on the road to recovery. He is now at Benevolent Hospital where he was removed directly after the accident.

The injuries were sustained shortly before 7 o'clock, as Mr. Hardiman was standing before the stove warming, preparatory to beginning his day's work, it was stated. He is a machinist and works in the tool room, where he operates a lathe. The machinery is started at 6:50 o'clock each morning, and yesterday just a few moments after the wheels had begun to whirl, a piece of shafting in the top of the building gave way and came down with a crash. It struck Mr. Hardiman on the head and shoulders, leaving a scalp wound and fracturing the shoulder. Mr. Hardiman was knocked unconscious.

Dr. F. P. Petty attended the injured man, and stated today that his recovery is practically assured.

The verdict was returned at 11:33 o'clock this forenoon and carried a penalty of life imprisonment. New did not flinch when the verdict was read. He was attended by his half sister, Miss Clancy. His mother, Mrs. Lillie Berger, was not present. The courtroom was crowded and the verdict was read under dramatic circumstances.

CAUCUS ADJOURNS WITHOUT NAMING PARTY LEADER IN THE U. S. SENATE

Final Ballot Stood Nineteen to Nineteen, With Several Senators Absent.

SECRETARY GLASS WAS INVITED TO PARTICIPATE

Hoke Smith of Georgia Could Break the Deadlock But Isn't Interested.

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Refusal of Senator Smith, of Georgia, to vote resulted in the contest between Senators Hitchcock and Underwood for the Democratic leadership of the senate, ending in a tie vote 19 to 19 at today's conference. Senator Smith said he did not care to vote because "both men were his friends."

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Held by a tie vote of 19 to 19 on the final ballot, the democratic members of the senate today postponed action until a later date upon the election of a minority leader.

Senators Hitchcock and Underwood each received 19 votes on the final ballot, after several ballots had been taken. On the first ballot the vote was a tie, 21 to 21. The caucus was unable to break the tie. Absentees will be given an opportunity to signify their choice by telegram or letter.

Senators Owen, Beckham and Glass were absent at today's session.

The vote stood: For Hitchcock—Ashurst, Chamberlain, Culberson, Henderson, Hendrix, King, Kirby, Myers, Nugent, Overman, Phelan, Pomerene, Robinson, Sheppard, Simmons, Thomas, Trammell, Walsh, of Montana; Wolcott—19.

For Underwood—Bankhead, Dial, Fletcher, Gay, Gerry, Gore, Harris, Harrison, Jones, McKellar, Pittman, Ransdall, Reed, Shields, Smith, of Maryland, Smith, of South Carolina; Walsh of Massachusetts and Williams—19.

Not voting—Hitchcock, Smith of Georgia, Underwood. Paired—Beckham, Owen; Smith of Arizona, Swanson. Absent—Glass, Johnson of South Dakota.

Senator Underwood issued a statement following the meeting in which he said: "The result of this vote does not in any way affect or interfere with Senator Hitchcock's control of the treaty fight in the senate. He has had my support in the past and if I am elected leader I will recognize him as the ranking member of the foreign relations committee on the floor. In this position he will continue to control the treaty fight."

"By a vote of 20 to 19 the caucus voted to invite Secretary Glass to participate as senator-elect. There was some objection to it. However after the vote was taken, I said I did not want the vote to be taken under any but conditions satisfactory to all."

Senator Simmons, democrat of North Carolina, manager of the Hitchcock campaign, said: "Had Secretary Glass been present he would have voted for Underwood. Had Senator Johnson of South Dakota been present he would have voted for Hitchcock. Senator Smith of Arizona for Underwood and Senator Owen for Hitchcock were paired. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia did not vote. The result of the caucus will not affect the leadership of the treaty fight in the senate."

Get Morgan County Out of the Mud

VOTE FOR THE GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE

A LAST CHANCE TO MAKE CENSUS SHOWING

Unless some special dispensation is granted by the supervisor for the district, the taking of the 1920 census will come to an end in Albany and Decatur tonight. The rules of the census bureau allow but two weeks for completing this work in cities and towns, although twice as much time is granted in the rural districts and villages.

It is quite possible that the enumerators have missed many persons in their rounds, not through any lack of diligence on their part but because of the difficulty of locating every last resident. These persons should, as a matter of city pride and because they are of patriotic intent, seek out the enumerators for their precincts and have their names enrolled as members of Uncle Sam's big family. Census taking is an opportunity that knocks but once in a decade, and if Albany and Decatur are to make a good showing in the population statistics of the next ten years they must act today.

If you haven't been enumerated, then get enumerated.

THE SUN GOES DOWN UPON A GREAT EVIL TODAY

There may have been many days in American history when the low descending sun has viewed from Americans no worthy action done. But such will not be the case when darkness shall follow the light this evening. As a war expediency, more than half a century ago, this government consented to enter partnership with the liquor traffic upon the condition that the whiskey business should have legal sanction and the protection of the government if in return the traffic would turn over to the government in the form of taxes or revenue a certain per cent of the money made from year to year. The makers of the agreement knew no problem so great for the time being as the need of revenue, and thus for broad patriotic reasons they legalized the liquor traffic. Those are in error who question the motives of the statesmen who made alcohol a partner with the government. Had such critics been in charge of national affairs sixty years ago they would have doubtless passed the same whiskey laws as were passed.

It was only a short while, however, until a sentiment arose among many far-seeing people who violently opposed legalizing traffic in a deadly, poisonous beverage. Especially, when it developed that the law had not only made the traffic respectable, but had enlisted a vast amount of capital and influence for its development. The early prohibitionists were set upon and abused in much the same way as was "Pussyfoot" Johnson in London town several weeks ago. For a number of years the pioneers in the great reform which becomes a fact today were content to gather their followers into what they called a "Prohibition Party" and they ran candidates for office from president down, on the ground that a prohibition law would not be enforced except by a prohibition office holder. When the Woman's Christian Temperance Union came into existence near a generation ago, this band of noble women as a rule endorsed the prohibition party idea, but they also did a great educational work throughout the nation, the most stupendous of which was the enactment of a national law requiring text-books to be taught in all the public schools setting forth the destructive effects, both morally and physically, of alcoholic drinks. Prior to this educational effort the enemies of alcohol had sent total abstinence pledges throughout the nation, had organized the "Sons of Temperance," the "Good Templars" and many other similar societies.

Notable among the means used to combat alcohol thirty years ago were speaking contests. The prize was a series of silver, gold, large gold and finally large diamond-set medals, for the young person who became the most proficient in declaiming against the evil effects of alcohol. A number of wealthy public-spirited men furnished the money for this enterprise. Among this number was William J. Amoretti, a multi-millionaire, who was once a candidate for president on the prohibition ticket. About this time most of the pulpits of the land began to thunder against the demon rum, and declared in effect that to legalize whiskey selling was the same as forming a solemn league with perdition.

After about ten years the churches of all creeds lined up solidly for prohibition. After this action, the doom of King Alcohol was fixed. The Anti-Saloon League entered the field and claimed to be the "church in action," as its speakers declared. The activities of the "League" are known to all. It has made and unmade many a man from a political standpoint. It was the League that enlisted the support of the employer class against the saloon, and now for a number of years state after state has entered the dry column, there to stay despite the prophetic utterances of those "douting Thomases" who declared early and late that "Prohibition never will prohibit."

At the close of one great war, America legalized the saloon. Now at the close of the greatest of all wars, America has outlawed the whole business of dealing in alcoholic drinks. King Alcohol is dead. Long may King Alcohol remain dead.

OPPOSITION TO PROJECT DUE TO MISUNDERSTANDING

(Birmingham Age-Herald.)
Thompson, who went to Washington recently in the interest of the Muscle Shoals developments, reports that the opposition to further government appropriations for the nitrate and dam propositions there is due mainly to misunderstanding and misrepresentation.

Mr. Thompson was engaged by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce to go to Washington and ascertain the real cause of the bitter fight that has been made against the completion of the mammoth enterprises begun at Muscle Shoals by the government and to suggest some way of overcoming it.

Mr. Thompson spent several days in the national capital, interviewed Representatives Nicholas Longworth and Simeon Fess of Ohio, who have been the bitterest foes of the Muscle Shoals developments, and others lined up with them.

On account of the multitudinous duties required of them during the war and the reconstruction period following the cessation of hostilities in Europe, the members of the congress have not had the time to familiarize themselves with this matter. Mr. Thompson reports. He expresses the belief that the Wadsworth-Kahn bill, relating to the Muscle Shoals proposition, will now pass Congress, but it will require continued work on the part of those interested in it to get it through.

The Chamber of Commerce, taking a broad view of its duties and its opportunities to aid in the development of all of Alabama, engaged Mr. Thompson to make the trip to Washington, bearing all his expenses and putting all the facilities at its command at his service. That is acted wisely, there can be no question, in view of the results obtained.

Birmingham is interested in the development, not only of this immediate district, but of the whole state of Alabama, and the Chamber of Commerce, in which center the industrial and commercial activities of the city, has adopted the policy of extending help to every community in the state where there is a possibility of accomplishing anything for the upbuilding of commerce and industry or improving conditions generally.

Wheat Always Preferred Food.
While more people are living in the world today dependent upon rice than upon wheat for subsistence and a greater number of the human family live upon millet than any other cereal food, wheat is the preferred food among the higher civilized peoples. The more progressive peoples of the earth have ever been wheat eaters. Grains of wheat have been discovered in Egyptian tombs of the first dynasty, dating back 4,000 B. C., while bread of wheat has been excavated from the ruins of the prehistoric lake dwellers of Wagner and Robenhausen in Switzerland.

KURDS A PRE-ARYAN RACE?

Fierce Warriors Have Been Distinguished for Their Turbulence Since Days of Xenophon.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about the Kurds is that at least one ethnologist has said of them that they might easily be taken for Germans in color of hair, skin and eyes. They are one of the races which have provided plenty of speculation, and they have been classed as of the Caucasian type, though one authority has described them as representing probably the aboriginal race, pre-Aryan, which extended once over the whole of Armenia, Luristan and Kurdistan. It seems pretty certain that they are descendants of those Carduchi whom Xenophon mentions as harassing the retreat of the Ten Thousand, and they still use the caves he mentions for their winter quarters. Whatever their race, there is no doubt about their turbulence. They have the air of fierce warriors, and they live up to their appearance, having given endless trouble to the Persians at one time or another. But they have a reputation for honor as well as courage, and, just as the Romanoffs chose their personal guards from among the fierce Cossacks, so the Persian shahs have been accustomed to confide themselves more willingly to Kurdish officers. At one time or another the Kurds have been the scourge of Armenia, and have committed some terrible excesses there in their forays.

NOT ALWAYS A DANGER SIGN

Mistaken Idea that Spitting Blood Invariably Denotes the Presence of Tuberculosis.

There is no need to become alarmed if one spits blood. It is not, as so many think, a sure sign of consumption, for the overwhelming majority of tuberculosis patients never have this symptom, and the blood may come from the larynx, pharynx, teeth, stomach or even the small intestine.

Dr. H. Rabinowitch of New York points out in the Medical Journal that when we consider the great size of the arteries that enter the lung and their minute ramification on the surface of the delicate air cells we should not wonder if blood is sometimes coughed up from the lungs. Severe coughing or straining may easily break a small branch of one of these arteries.

Dr. Rabinowitch says the hemorrhage itself is of slight moment. If it comes from an aneurism, death is almost instantaneous; if it comes from a congested area and is limited, it is in some ways beneficial by relieving the congested area. It has another good effect—making a recalcitrant patient obey the doctor's orders.

The treatment is directed to the cause and not to the hemorrhage.

Elf Arrows.

Elf arrow is a name given to a triangular piece of flint, formerly used as an arrowhead by early inhabitants of Great Britain and Europe generally. It was once believed that these bars of flint were shot by elves or invisible beings at cattle or men to bewitch them, hence the name. Cattle dying suddenly in the fields were said to have been struck by an elf arrow; and this superstition still lingers in Ireland at the present day. Elf arrows set in silver, were frequently worn as talismans, and were considered most efficacious as preventives against poison and witchcraft. They are also called elf bolts, elf darts, elf shot and elf stones.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will have charge of the program and the public is cordially invited to be present. ## His Mind in the Clouds.

Rev. George Harvey was to have been married to the daughter of Bishop Compton of London, but on the morning fixed for the ceremony forgot all about it and went off fishing. Much indignation was felt by the bride and her friends, and the engagement was broken off. But the reverend gentleman's second engagement was equally unsuccessful. Once more he forgot to come up to the church and lost his expectant bride in consequence.

JUST IN PASSING

THANKS THE DAILY

In a letter received here, Secretary Lewis Bowen of the Alabama Federation of Labor, expressed thanks and appreciation for the Daily's account of the Princess Theatre meeting of last Monday night at which Mr. Bowen and President William L. Harrison, of the state federation, made addresses in the interests of organized labor. In this letter Mr. Bowen said in behalf of that part of Mr. Harrison's address where he advised labor people to send men of their own ranks to the various law making bodies, that nothing said in this connection should be taken or construed as raising any question whatsoever as to the honesty of purpose of Morgan county representatives, or the views they held considering their view point, but that laboring people could naturally expect more at the hands of men of their own ranks. The message of President Harrison as stated by Mr. Bowen, merely being "that if organized labor desired remedial legislation, they should send men of their own ranks to the various legislatures and Congress."

FORESAW A LENGTHY SESSION

Little Lady Had Terrible Fear When the Congregation Began to Sing Number One.

The very small lady found a certain difficulty in maintaining an air of Christian resignation as she entered the church. To begin with, she had on a perfectly new summer frock, and she was quite aware that her hair, just combed out of curl papers, looked a little nicer than usual. Furthermore she was being allowed to come to church like a grown-up, as the chosen companion of an entirely grown-up uncle. It was the first time, too. So, at the beginning of things, she struggled to overcome an un-Christian pride, feeling at the same time quite sorry for children who were still allowed to go only to Sunday school.

Then, after what seemed a very long time of very long speeches, which obviously were not original because the rector read them out of a book, and much singing of music of a not particularly interesting sort, things began to seem a little dull. Try as she might, she couldn't escape a consciousness of the fact that the sun was shining brightly outside, and that it was getting on toward the hour when everyone would be going to take a swim or paddle in a canoe or do something else interesting. Then the congregation rose to sing a hymn, and the grown-up uncle gravely opened a hymnal and held it so that she might see the words. It was opened at hymn No. 1. She could see that, and she had heard the rector announce it.

The grown-up uncle observed restiveness on the part of the very small lady, which he translated as a desire to whisper. He leaned down to listen. "Uncle Henry," she said, "they--they don't go straight through the book, do they?"--Cincinnati Times-Star.

HAS REGULAR TIME TO EAT

Vegetable Plant in South Pacific Islands Demands Its Food and Seems to Appreciate It.

"Tul-tul," as the natives call it, is the most wonderful vegetable plant in the world.

It grows on certain South Pacific islands, and in appearance is like a giant turnip, but blood-red in color.

To the white man it is a very tough and tasteless vegetable. To the natives, however, it is a main item of their diet. They cook it and mix it with their coconut and breadfruit, for it is supposed to be very nourishing. They cultivate the plant in a rough sort of fashion in large ditches or swamps.

Its most peculiar feature is that it has to be fed, and for this purpose the native children go over the island collecting all decayed vegetable matter. This is soaked in plenty of salt water, and is then taken in armfuls to the plants and put in the center of the leaf stems or on the short, thick stem from which the leaves spread out on every side.

Slowly but surely the decayed matter disappears, the leaves stiffen and spread out erect--signs, apparently, that the plant has dined heartily, for it really is a case of feeding a plant. There is no opening of the stem or the leaves; the food is slowly and gradually absorbed in a silent and wonderful manner.

An Objection.

When I was at my cousin's wedding everything was going along very nicely. Just after the minister said "Has any one any objection to these two being wed?" my baby brother cried out "Da, da."--Exchange.

REV. J. P. COTTON DELIVERS SERMON

A large congregation was present when Rev. J. P. Cotton occupied the pulpit of the Willoughby Presbyterian church last night and preached an inspiring sermon based on the experience of Naham, the Syrian noble who was healed of leprosy by Elisha the Hebrew prophet.

Rev. Cotton said there were three servants who made it possible for the great miracle to be performed; the servant in the home of Naham, the servant in the house of the Prophet, and the servant in the Syrian army. He said the first "startled" her master in the right path, the second startled Naham's pride and the third servant "stopped him, ere his faith failed. The preacher said the consummation of the healing of Naham was one of the great outstanding examples of the power of cooperation backed by divine power.

While Rev. Cotton was pastor at Willoughby years ago he took great interest in encouraging the people of his church and all of South Albany, to greatly beautify their homes and premises. Last night he took to task in a mild way some whom he did not name, for not paying greater heed to the saving grace of beauty as applied to the outward appearance of their homes.

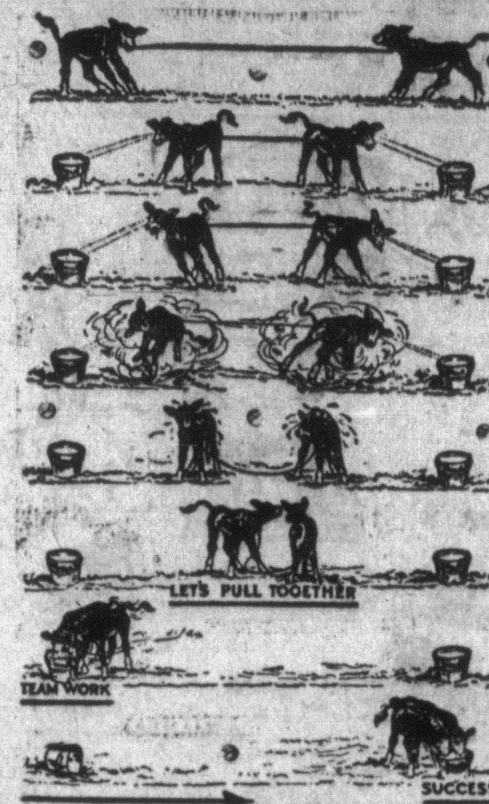

It was declared that there was no place in all the world, better for beautiful surroundings, beautiful flowers and attractive lawns than South Albany where, according to the speaker, for nearly all the year there is sunshine and gentle breezes. Rev. Cotton said in the course of his sermon that from information furnished him, about 85% of the people of South Albany own their own homes. While here Rev. Cotton was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiley Owen. He left for his home in Irwin, Tenn., last night.

THE SUPPORT OF THE FAMILY and home in case of fire is a policy in a good insurance company. The one we represent is noted for its liberal settlements and prompt payments. ## THE HOUSING PROBLEM IS ACUTE IN GREAT BRITAIN

People Waste Space and Incidentally Money on Unnecessary Household Help.

By EARL C. REEVES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The greatest in and out-door sport in England today is househunting.

Not because everybody is moving. Far from it. Nobody is moving who can avoid it. But for those who must the sport of househunting is more intensive, requires a keener scent, a stronger determination and a harder spirit than anything that's listed.

Househunting, while Commons debates and wrangles over a long overdue housing bill, is something of a cross between a Marathon race, the chase of an elusive greased pig and a high flyer in Wall Street.

By New York, Chicago and Washington standards rents are not so exorbitant here. That is to say, the flat statement in guineas which appears on the house agent's scant list doesn't sound unreasonable. But added to the flat rate which may look even promising, the follower of this modern sport must consider heating, light, gas, servants, gardener, inventories, agent's fee, rental of gas fixtures and anything else human ingenuity can figure on adding in the way of extras.

Following the course of the seeker who must have a roof over his head. Consider the various conditions and obstructions in the way of this race for the first requisite of living—something that will keep off the rain, and, perhaps, keep a small portion of the winter fog outdoors.

Item: For ten-mile suburban district, 40 cents daily transportation charges, increasing as the distance increases.

Item: For the "transient" American, field narrowed to furnished houses or flats.

Item: For the American, flats or apartments ruled out because, except for the seven or thirteen or so in all London, all apartments are made-over houses of the early Victorian era, and made more inconvenient by the transformation.

Item: In the furnished house, field all livable small houses of American size and style, or approaching that, are being held fast by possessors, due to the high cost of everything.

Result: The seeker starts to find a furnished house, scoring all apartments because their rents are higher than the rents for houses.

Lists from nine agents, covering ten suburban residence districts to the west and north of London, yield just twenty chances. There are twenty houses, between workman's cottage and palace or country estate in size, on the market "to let furnished." Five of them have been rented. Three provide for "no children." In two cases the tenants have changed their minds and are not renting. Two are for one month or two months.

These various and troublesome facts have been learned at the expenditure of days, perhaps, of taxi-bus and train fares and innumerable "five minute walks" that stretch out into eternity. In England when a man tells you it's five minutes' walk hire a taxi. It may be three miles.

For 6 guineas—a guinea is one shilling more than a pound—weekly you may have a luxuriously furnished bungalow on the banks of the historic Thames. You fall. You fall harder when you're told a tennis court accompanies the bargain. And you find a rammed stable. Honest. And you find that it is advertised as an all-on-one-floor house like we have in God's country, you know—but, actually, although there are no upstairs and down, that house is on four different levels, with half portion stair between every other room or so.

Moreover, it has only six bed rooms, three living rooms and a dining room, and one very, very feeble bathroom. It's a bathroom because there's a tin bathtub there, badly in need of paint, and over the tub what the inventory man probably would describe as "Picture: Nude in Bath." There's no wash basin. It's the old tank town railway hotel washbowl for yours when you shave, if you take that luxuriously furnished barn.

You don't Among other disadvantages, the place houses 407 oil paintings by unknown artists, and 1,368,942 of those little bits of this and that which go under the collective names of "ornaments." Such, for instance, as three small clocks, under inverted glass bowls, on a single mantelpiece.

A suave "head clerk" tells you confidentially of a wonderful bargain at thirty-five guineas a month. Believe it or not, this house actually had "central heating"—meaning steam heat. You'll look, of course, though you can't afford the thirty-five guineas, and the inevitable extras, unless your wife takes in washing.

"Central heating?" says the maid, blankly. "Hi don't understand. Oh, yes, there is an apparatus in the basement."

She doesn't know whether it's even been used. It's late December outside, threatening sleet, and the mistress has been very ill, but outside the gigantic built-in kitchen stove there isn't a single fire in all that house with its three reception rooms, butler's pantry, four bedrooms, den, dressing room, two maid's rooms and garage. The radiators were hid behind curtains and never were heated.

Beauty.

Talk as we may of beauty as a thing to be chiseled from marble or wrought out on canvas; speculate as we may upon its colors and outlines; what is it but an intellectual abstraction, after all? The heart feels a beauty of another kind; looking through the outward environment, it discovers a deeper and more real loveliness.—Whittier.

Hanging Too Good for This Man.

The meanest man has been found. He was in Philadelphia the other day. He robbed an old woman, at the entrance of the receiver of taxes office in the city hall, of her pocket book, which contained her tax bill and $73 with which to pay it; and two hours later mailed her the bill, after writing on it, "Ha! Ha! Pay your taxes."

Minus Middle Man in Hungry Armenia

The problem of eliminating the middleman from the deal, which is being grappled with so unsuccessfully wherever the high cost of living has penetrated, seems to have been solved by certain Near East Relief workers in Armenia according to reports just received at the headquarters of the organization at 1 Madison Ave., New York.

In getting clothes to the 13,000 orphans cared for by the Near East Relief in one part of Armenia, children scattered through 300 villages, the relief workers say that they are no more bothered by middlemen than Robinson Crusoe was, and that they work under conditions just about as primitive. If it were possible at present to go into the stores there and buy clothing except at prohibitive prices, or if it were even possible to buy cloth, middlemen would have to be considered, of course. But there's nothing like that going on in Armenia, just now.

Here are the necessary steps that must be taken before little Scroopie Mikhmanian—called Sarah-Mike for short—can put on a warm dress and some clean "undies" in place of those best-left-mentioned rags of hers:

"We start at the very beginning," says the report. "First we buy wool from the farmers, then it must be washed, which, incidentally, reduces its weight by about one-half. This is done by about twenty washers who carry a pood each (about 36 pounds) to the river each morning. There they soak it, lay it on a square altar of rocks, and beat it with a sort of baseball bat. When the dirt has been pounded out, it is taken up to the drying yards, where it is hung on clothes lines for twenty-four hours. Dried, it goes to the sorting room, and from there to the wool shops."

"Here some 2,500 spinning women take portions of it to their home each week to spin. When the thread is brought in, the women are paid on a graduated scale in accordance with the quality of thread they have made. The thread then goes to the looms, stopping perhaps at the dyeing vats, spinning."

"The cotton does not need washing, but must be carded. This is done by harp-like instruments. First there is a curved wooden pole about six feet long, to one end of which is attached a square piece of board. A taut string is stretched from the other end of the pole to the outside of the base board, the instrument is held in the left hand with a string toward the carder, cotton is laid across the string which is beaten with a wooden mallet, and the vibration of the string fluffs the cotton up until it is light and ready for spinning."

"The cotton thread must be dipped in a flour and water paste and dried before it is ready for weaving. We have two weaving shops here, and three in the districts. Gdavi is the commonest product, a sort of towel-like often used for clothing. Then there are several kinds of wool cloth that are first class for suits. All the cloth is woven on hand looms, which are made by our own carpenters."

"The distribution is direct from manufacturer to the consumer and you may be sure there is no profiteering in this transaction."

AMUSEMENTS

GLADYS BROCKWELL
AT THE DELITE TODAY

Broken commandments, love and sorrow and repentance, and a strange three-sided romance, made the photoplay, "Broken Commandments," which opens at the Delite theatre today, one of the strongest and most sympathetic in which Gladys Brockwell even has appeared. Supported by an excellent cast, this clever young Fox star put her best work into the part of the girl of the California redwoods who, through the course of an unusual yet heartily human story, pays a tragic price for love but comes at last through a crucial way to utter happiness.

The scenery of the California redwoods, majestic and beautiful, made a strong feature.

"A DAUGHTER OF THE SUN"
MASONIC MONDAY, JAN 19

The Hawaiian Islands are the home of the Kaula. He is a son of the copies and has evolved many things typically his own. The most pronounced of these is his music. The sad and plaintive melodies tell of his own isolation in the midst of the Pacific. Hawaiian music has swept our land the past few years as nothing of the kind ever did before. We hear it everywhere and every one seems to enjoy it. The new play coming to the Masonic theatre Monday, Jan. 19, is "A Daughter of the Sun," a tale of an Hawaiian butterfly, written by Lorin Howard and Ralph T. Kettering is the latest play produced on these islands of the Pacific. The story abounds in mystery and intrigue. The secret service of the U. S. A. is introduced combating the machinations of the Pap. The cast is one of unusual size. The scenery is massive and beautiful. The volcanic eruption in the last act is the acme of stage mechanism and realism. The company also carries a troupe of native Hawaiian singers and musicians and the atmosphere of Hawaii is maintained throughout. The Mutual Play Co., the producers, have spared no expense or effort in making this a play really worth while.

WIDELY READ MAGAZINE
STORY IS VEHICLE FOR
CORINNE GRIFFITH FILM

Vitaphone takes a widely read magazine story of exceptional dramatic power as the vehicle for the Corinne Griffith picture "A Girl at Bay," which will be seen in the Princess theatre on Friday. Miss Griffith is finely cast as Mary Blake, cultured young settlement worker, who by an amazing turn of fate finds herself the self convicted slayer of a young judge she never had met.

To avert suspicion she becomes secretary to the victim's brother, and the action is divided between her fight against her love for him and her struggles against the net a noted criminologist is weaving about her, he being convinced she has knowledge of the crime, although not the slayer.

James Gollomb wrote the story, and the picture was directed by Tom R. Mills. The supporting cast includes Walter Miller, Harry Davenport, Denton Manne, Walter Horton, Robert Gaillard, James Costello, Grace Williams, Edward Elkins and Anne Brody.

Hayes' Healing Honey
Stops the Tickles, Heals the Throat and Cures the Cough. Price 35c. A free box of GROVES' O-PEN-TRATE SALVE for Chest Colds, Head Colds and Croup is enclosed with every bottle.
